There is an additional fee of £20.50 if the ownership has changed or £15.50 if the ownership remains the same but the address or surname has changed.

ADDITION OF MICROCHIP:

The microchip is a fundamental part of an equine's identity. All passports issued after July 2009 are already linked to a microchip. All equines in Great Britain need to have a microchip officially linked to the passport on the Central Equine Database (CED). Check CED at www.EquineRegister.co.uk using the National Equine Chipchecker. If a microchip is not already linked to the passport its presence must be confirmed by a Vet who will also need to identify the animal against the silhouette in its passport before returning the form and passport to the address above. This form should not be used to add a second microchip to a passport.

COLOUR AMENDMENT:

This form allows a Vet to make a simple colour amendment (ie from Bay to Grey) that does not affect the existing markings on the silhouette. If the markings have changed (ie Skewbald to Grey) this will require a new silhouette to be drawn [note to vet only RCVS recognised colours are acceptable].
